

Published based on Tuning into the Voice of God

Tuning into the Voice of God

God, the author of communication, speaks in a million different ways. We, as His people, have to learn to listen to His voice. One of the sweet ways that I have learned to hear God is by tuning in to what I hear “in my Spirit” as I awaken in the mornings.

For example, on Saturday, just as I was opening my eyes I heard, “The steps of a good man (or woman) are ordered by the Lord.” Knowing that oftentimes my mind is quiet in my awakening moments and I am able at that moment to hear freely from God's Spirit, I sensed God was speaking to me. Therefore I pondered that verse from Psalm 37 all that day. As I went about my day, I asked God to order my steps and I was alert to the idea that God had some particular things in mind for me that day. I got a pedicure. I wondered if my steps were destined to cross the technician's path. I listened for more direction from God as I had conversation with a young girl from Vietnam. As I waited in the line at Wal-Mart and felt frustrated at the clerk for being slow, I remembered that God was ordering my steps and I suddenly was alert to what God might want for that moment.

On Sunday, I awakened to thoughts of a song, “Word of God speak, would you pour down like rain, washing my eyes to see, Your majesty, Word of God speak.” And I understood that God wanted to meet with me and speak to me through His Word. During the day, I looked for ways that the Word of God was either speaking to me, or ways that the Word could speak to any given situation that I was in.

While this is not rocket-science, I find that we often beg for God to speak to us in thundering clearness – and while He does do that – many times He is speaking through what we might term a “still small voice.”

Since I began to tune in to the idea that my spirit is never asleep and God primarily communicates with me from His Spirit speaking to my spirit (and not only through my mind), I have many times awakened during the night or first thing in the morning to immediately “hear” God speak.

Now of course we are all susceptible to hearing a wrong voice, but as we spend more time with God, more time we spend reading His Word, we learn to more clearly identify the voices which speak to us as to whether they be our flesh, the enemy, or God. One reason God was able to bring that scripture in Psalm 37 to my mind was because many years ago I had memorized that verse.

Today I just wanted to share one little way that I have learned to tune in to what God is saying to me. There are many more.

I'd love to hear from some of you. Leave a comment about a time when you heard God speak through a still small voice and whether or not you listened to His voice. Let's learn together!

You can also find this article published on Tuning into the Voice of God, and on the tag pages communication, Psalm 37, Psalm 37:23, voice of God, voice of the Holy Spirit.